

Grand Officers Find Temple Accurate

ABOUT 250 PEOPLE ATTEND BANQUET AND DEDICATION

We are sure the people of Grayling share with the members of the Masonic fraternity the pleasure of a completed new temple.

Last Thursday evening Most Worshipful Grand Master W. H. Parker and his assistant Grand lodge officers were in Grayling to dedicate Grayling Lodge's new temple. It was a most notable gathering, with the distinguished visitors taking a leading part in the evening's program.

The Ladies of the Eastern Star had prepared and served a delightful banquet. Three long tables stretching from the front to the rear of the social room were overtaxed, and about 25 had to be served at a second setting. A large vase of cut flowers adorned each table which, with their white linens, silver and crystal, were very attractive.

Ernest Larson, worshipful master of Grayling lodge, was in charge of the evening's festivities. He introduced Judge Charles E. Moore, senior warden of Grayling lodge, who in his inimitable way welcomed the grand lodge officers and other guests. He told how the members of Grayling lodge toiled in their effort to complete the temple and assured the appreciation of the lodge members.

T. P. Peterson, a member of the building committee, gave a resume of the progress made in the construction of the new temple, beginning from the time the former temple, located in the Grayling Opera house, burned, to the present date.

Associated with Mr. Peterson on the building committee were Ernest Larson, Fred Welsh, Albert Roberts and Philip Moran. These members all played important parts in the furthering of the construction of the temple. But there were other contributors aplenty, some of the members working diligently day and night in the laying of the floors and other construction operations. It was a great service for the good of Grayling lodge and for our community. Mr. Peterson expressed the wish that the place be used extensively for community affairs. The club room is beautiful and most conveniently arranged for public functions. The culinary department is at one end of the room and that too is planned for service. There are still many things to provide for this department of the temple which will be gradually acquired as time goes on. The ladies of the Eastern Star lodge, of which Mrs. Daisy Barnett is the worthy matron, are giving enthusiastic support and working shoulder to shoulder with the Masonic members.

Fred Welsh, another member of the building committee, also gave out a few statistics relative to the building, and gave full credit to all those who helped in the project.

Most Worshipful Grand Master W. H. Parker, remarked on the fine record made since their meeting in Grayling some time last fall, when the next to impossible has been accomplished. He especially complimented Fred (Welsh) and Pete (T. P. Peterson) for their loyalty and patriotism in coming forward with considerable materials, flooring, etc., which had to go into the building of the temple and for their masterful effort in making possible the financial responsibility and for their plans for carrying them out.

After the banquet Worshipful Master Ernest Larson announced that they would repair to the lodge room to listen to the dedicatory ceremonies.

Mrs. June Underwood, accompanied by Mrs. Giegling, rendered a number of vocal solos, much to the pleasure of the large crowd present. This was followed by the officers of Grayling lodge taking their respective stations. Worshipful Master Larson announced that temple was ready for inspection in order to ascertain if it were complete and ready for dedication.

Whereupon the Grand lodge officers appeared in the lodge rooms, marching three times around the lodge room and taking their respective stations about the room that had been vacated by the local lodge officers. The Grand lodge master announced that an inspection of the temple had been formally requested and ordered the members of the Grand Lodge to proceed at once. It was first tried by the square when one of the officers tested every corner to see that it was square and according to Masonic requirements. Another officer tested the walls to see that they were plumb. All answering in the affirmative, the regular Masonic temple dedication was carried out. It was a very dignified and interesting ceremony and left lasting impressions on all present, many of whom were not Masons or members of the Eastern Star.

A number of informal talks were made, among the speakers being F. B. Lambie, right worshipful senior grand warden, and Wm. C. Donnell, right worshipful grand chaplain.

Grayling Masonic Temple is now fully dedicated and ready for all Masonic uses. That it will play an important part in the Masonic and social life of Grayling there is little doubt. It was built by Grayling people and they should share in its privileges. And that is the hope of the Masonic fraternity. Grayling is proud of this fine temple and we are certain that it will be used for many appropriate occasions.

BUS SCHEDULES TO CHANGE ON MAY 10TH

On May 10, 1938 the bus schedules of many of the bus lines serving Michigan will be changed. Schedule changes will provide better connections at many points and in many instances result in increased service. Connection delays where it is necessary for passengers to change from one bus to another to get to destination, have been drastically reduced. The bus lines involved are Eastern Michigan Motorbuses, Enders Greyhound Lines, Owosso-Flint Bus Lines, Short Way Lines, Foster Bus Line and Central Michigan Coach Lines.

One of the most important changes is the new schedule between Eastern Michigan Motorbuses and Enders Greyhound Lines, providing four good connections at Kalamazoo for points between Detroit and Kalamazoo to points between Kalamazoo and Benton Harbor and St. Joseph. Other changes mean better service between points north of Grand Rapids to and from points south of Kalamazoo, also between points north of Lansing to and from points west, south and east of Jackson.

Recent additions of new buses by several of the bus operators, together with these schedule changes, provide most modern and efficient transportation service between the various municipalities of Michigan.

A Symbol of Motherhood

James MacNeill Whistler's "Mother," one of the world's most beloved paintings, stands as a symbol of Mother's Day, commemorated here and throughout the nation on Sunday, May 8.

1st Grayling Air Mail Stop May 19th

PLANE TO MAKE 10 MINUTE STOP HERE

A significant event occurs in Grayling on May 19th when a special air mail flight will stop to pick up air mail from the Grayling Post Office. The Post Office Department announces this special air mail flight No. 6 with a ten minute layover at each stop. The schedule follows:

Leave St. Ignace	12:30 p. m.
Arrive Petoskey	12:50 p. m.
Arrive Gaylord	1:17 p. m.
Arrive Grayling	1:42 p. m.
Arrive Mt. Pleasant	2:40 p. m.
Arrive Midland	3:04 p. m.
Arrive Bay City	3:26 p. m.
Arrive Saginaw	3:40 p. m.

The Grayling post office is entered in a contest for the cancellation of the largest number of Air Mail letters and articles, and a count of all such mailing will be made during Air Mail Week—May 15 to 21. A big count of Air Mail articles during this period and especially on May 19th, the date of the special flight, will be an important factor in Grayling's efforts to include this city as a permanent stop on the proposed Detroit to Sault Ste. Marie Air Mail route.

The slogan is "An Air Mail Letter by Everyone in Crawford County During Air Mail Week." Regardless of the distance to be reached whether it be Roscommon, Frederic, Detroit or out of state points the use of air mail stamps on all mailings up to seventy pounds is urged. The domestic rate is 6c per ounce for all Air Mail articles.

The Grayling Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a special cachet for the flight which is of philatelic value. Stamp collectors desiring cancellations of the one-day letter mailings on May 19th are urged to send a limited number of requests—not more than five per person, to Postmaster James McDonnell. A cash or money order remittance of six cents to cover the cost of air mail postage for each letter or cover must accompany the requests, which should be in not later than May 18th. It is requested that the name and address of the sender be printed on each cover desired by philatelists.

The following form will be stamped on the face of each air mail letter going out of Grayling Post office:

Large Crowds At Trout Festivals

WEST BRANCH AND KALKASKA PUT ON FINE SHOWS

Along with the opening of the trout fishing season in Northern Michigan, trout festivals are playing an important part. Festivals that attract the out-door men and fishermen are offered by the neighboring communities. They stand out and large crowds attend. They are gatherings of thousands of men and women who are ready to celebrate and have a part in the opening of the fishing season.

West Branch and Kalkaska pioneers in these festival events and each of those communities did itself proud in their 1938 year. The fishing season officially opened Saturday, April 30th. Kalkaska in the morning and West Branch in the evening, started their respective festival on Friday.

Kalkaska.

L. Kramer was the chairman in charge of Kalkaska festival and he was generous in selecting judges for their purpose and many of the other contesting events. Dr. J. F. Cook, A. J. Joseph, Roy Trudgoun, and O. J. Schumann served on that committee from Grayling, while other communities provided their quota of judges.

The forenoon weather wasn't any too good in discharging festival weather but nevertheless a huge crowd was present and stood in the rain while the several forenoon events were run off. Jack VanCoeveghen, outdoor writer for the Free Press was de-throned and stripped of his regal splendor that had been his since a year ago and his successor for the year 1938 officially crowned Miss Ruth (Dimple) Wells, 1937 trout queen likewise surrendered her gavel of authority to her successor.

These two celebrities with their assistants, were seated on the wonder throne, 30 feet in height and made in rustic during the ceremonies, while nationally known movie news camera men flashed their bulbs for the pictures that no doubt will put Kalkaska trout festival on the map as their attractions are thrown on the screen through America's motion picture theatres. The rain ceased in the afternoon and the crowd was kept busy watching a variety of field sports, pistol matches, turtle race, bait-casting and other events.

In the evening Hotel Kalkaska was the scene of the annual press-queen-banquet. This was a brilliant affair, filled with entertainment and short speeches.

Conspicuous at this feature was the presence of Tim Doolittle and his Pine Center Gang, WJR radio artists. They were a delightful group to meet and a lot of real gentlemen as well as clever entertainers. With "Tim" were Ted Soren, "fiddler"; Al Sager (Red); "Curley", guitarist; Herb, "Little Joe", banjo; "Hi Neighbor", Royal Oak Flash, and others. This clever "gang" of entertainers appeared on a program at the school auditorium following the banquet.

This was a jolly and very pleasant affair, staged as only the Kalkaskians know how to do. Eddie and Kittie Robinson, also were program headlines at the school auditorium Friday evening.

Saturday there were fishing contests and fishermen who are expected to tell everything except the truth were having their inning in real earnest. On the whole Kalkaska festival was one grand success and everyone who was present will remember it a long time after.

West Branch.

Friday night was for the coxers and a number of interesting boxing bouts were staged. Dances and other entertainment kept a large crowd busy until the late hours of the night.

Saturday morning found the real fishermen out on the streams. Cold and rain didn't add much to their comfort but who should worry about such trifles on the opening day of the trout fishing season? Others followed the scenic trails some getting their first glimpse of deer out in the wilds. All day long the crowd enjoyed the entertainment and attractions that had been prepared for them and in the evening met their wives and sweethearts at the community building to dance to the music of a good orchestra.

Sunday was the day of the big parade and a monster it proved to be. There were bands galore, esthetic floats and others that "Keeping Michigan trout streams stocked for anglers" with pictures and reading matter covering two full pages of the Pictorial section of last Sunday's News, had more than passing interest for Grayling people as the pictures were taken at Grayling Fish Hatchery here and the information gained here also. Kendrick Kimball of the News is credited with the taking of the photographs and the story. Employees appearing in the various scenes included Superintendent Hans L. Peterson, Carl Nielson, George Biedski and Henry Bradley.

Following is the story that appeared in connection with the pictures:

"Another trout season has opened, and, hoping for good weather and full creels, thousands of anglers will be invading northern Michigan to whip the AuSable, Pine, Manistee, Sturgeon, Pigeon, Black and Platte Rivers and their tributaries.

To keep pace with the fishermen, the State is raising trout to restock the streams for 1939. The hatcheries, or "trout factories", are at Grayling, Watersmeet, Thompson, Oden, Harrietta, Comstock Park, "Paris," Wolf Lake, Hastings and Harrisville.

Most of the state-reared trout that reach Detroit's dinner tables are born and nursed to adolescence in the Grayling hatchery. Today more than a million young rainbows, brown and speckled trout are wriggling about in troughs in a temperature of 44 degrees. At the age of three months they will be transferred to an extensive system of ponds.

Other troughs are filled with screens containing eggs stripped from the breeding stock of rainbows, the only Michigan species that produces eggs in the spring. Fertilized artificially, the eggs hatch in 25 to 50 days, and the young slip down through the meshes of the screen into the water.

Raising trout is a complicated, scientific matter. To prevent goitre farunculosis, a cancerous growth, and other ills, iodine is mixed with the ration of dog biscuit, liver, sheep and beef scraps. The ponds are "sterilized" by copper sulphate or potassium iodine, which kill the parasites that attack the gills. Herons, kingfishers, wild ducks and other predators are shot on sight.

In the fall the young trout are taken away in milk cans to their new homes. Next spring, when the season opening rolls around, about 25 per cent will have reached the legal length of seven inches. The 1938 output will be two million.

"If you were voting for a Congressman today, would you be most likely to vote for the Republican, the Democrat or the Third Party candidate?" A cross section of the Nation's voting power was asked this question by the American Institute of Public Opinion. Watch for the results in Sunday's Detroit News.

CARD OF THANKS

Our sincere appreciation is extended to our neighbors and friends for the many kindnesses and expressions of sympathy in our late bereavement, and to Reverend Flory and the ladies who sang at the beautiful funeral service.

The Doroh Family.

Notice

There has been a lot said concerning families failing to observe the quarantine and isolation rules in cases where homes have been placarded. For whooping cough and other minor diseases there is a "warning" sign placed on the home and the patient is supposed to be isolated from others. However for scarlet fever or other more serious contagious diseases there is a regular "quarantine" sign placed on the home and no one should enter or leave the premises, except as provided by the rules and regulations of the Michigan Department of Health.

I shall very much appreciate it if people will please report to me cases where the rules are being disregarded or cases that have not been reported and I will take the matter up at once.

Mrs. Agnes Bissonette,
City Health Officer.

Seniors Present "Speak For Yourself"

"Speak For Yourself," Joan Peterson, a three act comedy, was good entertainment and kept the audience amused for two hours while the cast of ten seniors went through their lines. The plot of the story hinged around the troubles of Joan Adams, smart young interior decorator, who finally got squared around to marry Tom Dunlop. Before the happy ending, however, there was a lot of trouble, what with scheming show girls, plotting partners, and ruined romances. Tom's mother had her own ideas as to what his plans should be, and Bella, the colored servant, had a way that was characteristic only of Bella. She was a rugged individualist if there ever was one. Add to these, items the fine music of the High School Girls' Glee Club for between acts and a pleasant evening is the answer.

The play cast and the director, Miss Jessie MacDonald, deserve full credit for their efforts to put on a good show. Play production is no easy matter.

The part of Joan, a long and difficult part too, was taken by Jessie Peterson. She did a convincing piece of work with it and made a charming heroine. The part of hero Tom Dunlop was entrusted to John Henry Peterson and he really looked and acted the part. His mother, Mrs. Dunlop, was played by Marie LaMotte. She failed to marry Tom to the Smith girl, but gave her consent at the time. And then there was the show girl, decorative enough but not able to hold Tom. Naomi Wheeler did well in this, the role of the villainess. Laura Johnson as Joan's partner, was a convincingly efficient plotter for Joan's happiness. Her methods were a bit unusual but they added a lot of snarl to the plot. She made a nice job of two romances when she persuaded two young men about town, Dewey Courts and John Deckrow to bring flowers to Joan. That scene was one of the high spots in the play, but the boys had a tough time getting Norberta Weiss and Ruth Benware to take them back again, though of course the girls had to, to insure the happy ending. And then there was Bella, "a law unto herself." Dorothea Morris put this important part over in a big way. All in all it was a good cast of student actors who deserve the honors which they won.

Early Newspaper "Ads" in Special Supplement

In the Seventeenth century editors considered "ads" beneath their dignity; they thought that advertisements ought to be published apart from news. And so, in June, 1668, we find the first Advertisement Supplement announced, writes a correspondent in London Answers Magazine.

The paper concerned was the London Gazette, and here is the editor's dignified pronouncement:

"This is to notify, once for all, that we will not charge the Gazette with Advertisements, unless they be matter of State; but that a Paper of Advertisements will be forthwith printed apart, and recommended to the Publick by another hand."

The first advertisement to appear in England was that of a book called "The Divine Right of Church Government." It appeared in an issue of a weekly newspaper which bore the following clumsy title: "Perfect Occurrences of Every Date, Journal in Parliament, and Other Moderate Intelligence, No. 13, from Friday, March the 26th, to Friday, April the 2, 1647." What a mouthful!

Advertising announcements have been discovered on the walls at Pompeii, the pleasure city that was swallowed up by lava from a volcano. One of these announces the opening of some baths, on which occasion visitors are promised a slaughter of wild animals, to be viewed in comfort under an awning.

In Ancient Rome advertising was carried out by means of criers, who announced forthcoming sales and lost property. They also advertised with posters; these were called libelli; and the information they contained included news of absconding debtors.

Grenada's Riches Found in Its Nutmegs, Fruits

To those who know of nutmeg only as a fragrant dust decorating the top of a milk punch or an egg-nog the growing of nutmegs, the principal crop of Grenada, Windward islands, will prove a source of wonderment and surprise. The growth of this staple "spice" may be observed by visitors to the island. The full fruit, hanging pendant from its mother twigs, looks like smooth, salmon-tinted nectaries or peaches.

Grenada's riches are found in its nutmeg groves and fruit orchards. On every hand are the dense, glossy-green leaves of the nutmeg tree, the purple and coppery-green of cacao and the deep-tinted verdure of orange, lime and mango trees.

When fully ripe the nutmeg fruit splits open and discloses a glossy, rich brown oval seed, covered with a lacelike network of gorgeous crimson. This is the nutmeg with its coating of scarlet mace, but the portion used—the aromatic, solid spicy "nut"—is within the glossy outer shell, beneath the mace.

When first ripe and freshly gathered the nutmeg is one of the most beautiful of nature's products, but the mace soon fades to a dull brown or yellow and drops off; the glossy shell becomes gray and wrinkled, and beauty gives place to utility.

My Neighbor Says:

Cultivate your garden in the middle of the day so that the weeds will be wilted by the sun and will not grow again.

To remove paint from clothing soak the spots two or three times with ammonia and turpentine in equal parts. Wash out in soap suds.

Mirrors should never be hung where the sun shines directly on them for any length of time. A mirror exposed to direct sunlight for some time becomes cloudy.

Salt should not be added to the water in which delicate green vegetables are cooked until they are almost done. To preserve color, greens should be cooked in an uncovered pan.

Boiled frosting, if not cooked enough so that it will spread on cake, may be cooked over again or powdered sugar may be added until it is of the right consistency to spread. Use double boiler when cooking frosting over.

Gulf of Carpentaria Is One of Loneliest Seas

The moody Gulf of Carpentaria, on Australia's northern coastline, due south of New Guinea, is one of the loneliest seas. Usually the gulf is calm, the heat tempered by cooling winds. But in blazing summers the water heaves in great swells, forecasting a cyclone, and then old sailors recall that this gulf has been known throughout the seven seas as "the graveyard of ships."

There are strange features about this vast gulf, states a Sydney, Australia, correspondent in the New York Times. It has only one tide mark at all. And at night its waters glow more vividly than any other body of water. Nowhere else, it is said, are so many marine organisms known to exist, which give this place a phosphorescent, so plentiful as they are in the Gulf of Carpentaria.

At night in the weather, the waters glow with colors. Every wave, every ripple is marked with lines of blue, green, blue and pink, the glow of a tiny creature no bigger than a pin's head. The sea is full of glowing points of light.

Scattered about the gulf are many islands, some little known. One is Swains Island, which many years ago was the site of a flourishing settlement owing its existence to yellow fever. In the early 1860s two sailors arrived at Burketown dying with yellow fever. As the dread malady hit others in the town, the population fled, most of it to Swains Island, where it lived for years before returning home.

Lapland

"The Land of the Midnight Sun" is no misnomer for North Finland and neither is "Lapland." Lapland is not a country, not a political unit, not even a clearly defined geographical division, for its southern boundary is loosely applied to the northern parts of Norway, Sweden, Finland, and Karelia (U. S. S. R.)—to that part of the vast territory of Europe lying north of the Arctic circle and between the Atlantic ocean and the White sea.

Large groups of women from all corners of Crawford county are in Grayling today in attendance at the annual Achievement Day of the Home Economics Extension service.

Dr. and Mrs. Robbins have moved into the Clair Smith house on Maple street. Dr. Robbins is located at Camp AuSable. The Smith family have moved to the Military reservation.

One of the pleasant features of the approaching J-Hop is the all-girl orchestra, that has been secured to render the music. Buy your tickets now from any member of the class.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Bidvia are happy over the arrival of a son born at Mercy Hospital Tuesday. The boy was a tiny mite weighing 4½ pounds, and he will be known as Thomas-Matthew. Congratulations.

Burwell Charles is the name of the son, weighing 10½ pounds born to Mr. and Mrs. DeAlton Griffith (Frances Corwin) Tuesday. Mother and baby are at the home of Mrs. Griffith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Corwin.

Fire of an incendiary nature destroyed the cottage of George Wilkinson of Detroit, April 23rd. It was located at Connors Flats on the AuSable. Local officers and state police are looking for the perpetrators.

The Kiwanians held their meeting at Edgewater on the AuSable Wednesday evening. Mrs. Stephan-Knecht and her assistants served the men hot pancakes and sausage. For some reason these down-river dinners seem to taste better than home cooked. Of course they don't but they only seem to. Perhaps it's the surroundings and the fresh, pure air, and the sound of the mighty AuSable as it pours its crystal clear waters right in front of the cabin doors. The appetite is always sharp and the cooks have to get a double geared hustle on in order to keep up with the cry "more cakes and sausage, please." Send your rugs to the Grayling Laundry to be cleaned like new.

Lansing—Liberal doses of 1938 economics are being fed to Michigan citizens this spring. It's a giddy whirl!

First, Senator Vandenberg goes on the air in rousing denunciation of Roosevelt's new pump-priming campaign.

Second, Governor Murphy speaks on a coast-to-coast network endorsing liberal public spending as a cure for depression sickness with a reservation of two to the effect that congress should also remove unreasonable handicaps to business.

The liberal spending policy of government seems as one of the issues of the 1938 campaign in Michigan. Murphy defends his increasing state deficit as being caused only by the present depression. Yet while more state millions are being authorized for public relief, Budget Director Harold Smith is studying measures to effect drastic economies for the new fiscal year beginning July 1. Thus would mean less spending, not more, at Lansing.

Additional Taxes

The governor has always maintained that public spending must be done with a balanced budget. At the legislative council session here last week, he declared that additional taxes would be necessary until the relief burden was reduced in the near future.

Thus we have a prospect of more state and local taxes for 1938. Someone has to pay the piper and it's usually the taxpayer's back home.

Will the state set an example by reducing payrolls and thereby cutting its spending? The 1938 situation in Michigan has a most interesting contradictory possibility.

Annual Wage Blasted

As we pointed out in the column a month ago, the annual wage proposal appears to be an economic mirage to Michigan automobile workers.

It's all right for the Hormel meat packing company in Minnesota because regardless of prosperity or depression we still have to eat. But the experience of the last depression taught us that people don't have to buy automobiles. When times are hard they delay the purchase of new furniture, new automobiles and so on.

At the White House the other day, Henry Ford blasted the idea that he was planning to make an annual wage for workers in his River Rouge industrial empire. He informed reporters so Detroit reporters were informed that the law of supply and demand still prevails. For that reason he said it was "silly" to talk about fixed production fixed wages, and other arbitrary floor and ceilings in the automobile industry.

But don't be surprised if you hear of a "monthly wage." It is being studied as a feasible step, if only a modest one, to

Profit Sharing

Of interest to Michigan citizens, because industrial payrolls here have slumped 41 per cent within 12 months the greatest decline in any state in the nation—is the plan by Senator Vandenberg at Washington to get a modest $30,000,000 appropriation for a federal survey of profit sharing systems in factory workers.

Gar Wood, famous sportsman, introducing the idea to his Michigan plants. Twenty per cent of declared dividends will be set aside for profit sharing among his employees. Wages are not being cut.

Furthermore, Wood is cutting his own salary 50 per cent. Gar Wood is making his company dividend conscious and that means just this—they are going to read corporation statements with new interest. They are taxes, profit taxes, and taxes against the business man's profits for the worker. This is revolutionary.

Shorthand dictation at 120 words a minute has been taken in the local school this year.

The High School orchestra played for the Home Economics Extension group this week. Miss Johnson took her group down to the church and they presented their numbers at the first program and then hurried back to school again.

GRAYLING HIGH BASEBALL

With bad weather having forced postponement of the Grayling game last week, the Grayling team will play the game this week and the games come thick and fast at the end of the season, May 27th.

Practice has been carried on every night weather permitting, and prospects are that a well rounded team will represent the Northern Lights again. With a squad of nearly 30 reporting, Coach Cornell states that much progress has been made in the fielding and hitting drills.

Friday, May 6th, at 4:10 p. m., Grayling meets Kalkaska on the local diamond and then at 2:00 p. m. the following day Coach Hasty's Thunderbolts of Alpena move in to cross bats with the green and white. These lads took a close 6-7 decision from Cornell's squad earlier in the season and the boys will be out to even the series.

The probable lineup and schedule for the year are as follows:

Lovely, ss; Coutts, 1st; Deckrow, c; Bowen, cf; Rutkowski, 3rd; Westerholm, lf; Mathews, rf; John Peterson, 2nd.

Advance dope has it that Kalka will take the mound against Kalkaska. J. Peterson will do the hurling against Alpena, and Tibbetts will try out his curves against Gaylord.
